Office Communications & Process Streamlining

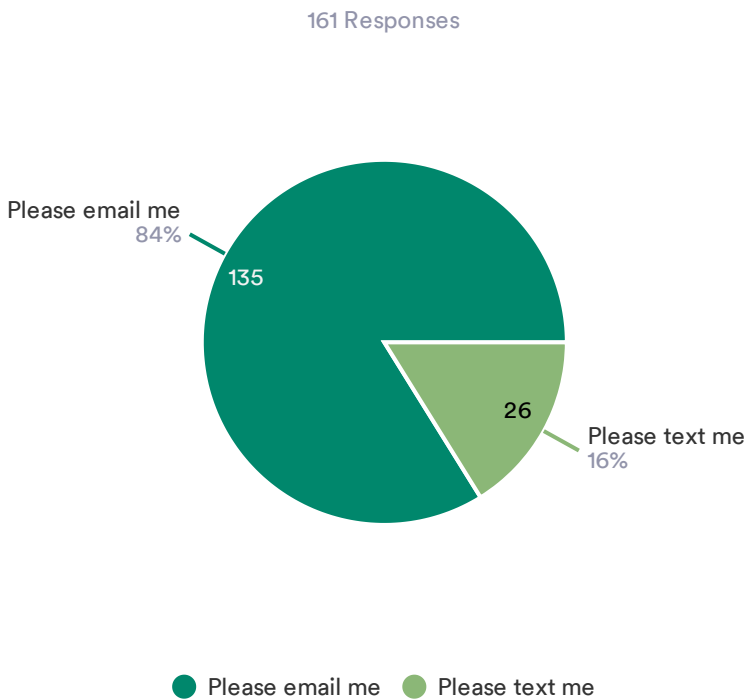

If the office hosted an event where you could pick up your tax notice, your golf passes, your cart stickers, and your boat launch stickers, and potentially even pay for everything right there, and it was fast and organized would you attend?

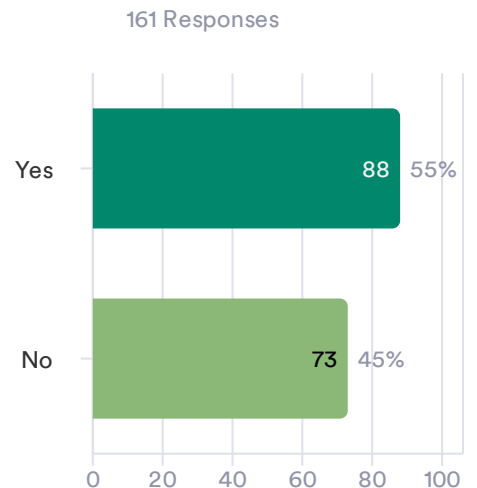

Which weekend would work best for you?

What is your preferred method of communication for major events from the office?

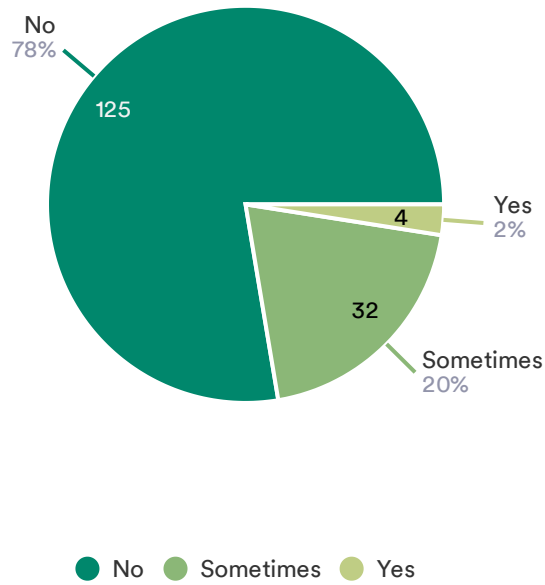

Are you or a member of your family on Facebook? If so, are you comfortable passing these communications along to them? (Does not apply to emergent issues).

Do you attend council meetings?
